GROUP HEALTH CONTINUATION COVERAGE “COBRA”

The following is a summary of rights and obligations regarding continuation of group health plan coverage, also known as “COBRA”. Congress often changes the COBRA laws. This summary is subject to change without notice as interpretations or changes of the law occur.

Federal law requires most employers sponsoring group health plans to offer employees and their eligible dependents covered under a group health plan the opportunity to elect a temporary extension of health coverage (called “continuation coverage” or “COBRA coverage”) at group rates in certain instances (“qualifying events”) where coverage under the group health plan would otherwise end. Pete King Construction Company (the “Employer”) maintains a group health insurance plan which is subject to this Notice. For simplicity, it is referred to in this Notice as the “Plan”. The life insurance and accidental death and dismemberment (AD&D) portion of the Plan is not covered under COBRA but may be converted to an individual policy. You do not have to show that you are insurable to elect continuation coverage, however, you will have to pay all of the premium for your continuation coverage. At the end of the maximum coverage period, you will be allowed to enroll in an individual conversion health plan if it is otherwise available under the Plan.

This summary is intended only to summarize, as best possible, your rights and obligations under the law. The Plan offers no greater COBRA rights than what the COBRA statute requires, and this Notice should be construed accordingly. The COBRA statute is not clear on some points and is interpreted by Federal agencies and the courts. Congress often changes the law. Therefore, this summary is subject to change without notice as interpretations or changes of the law occur.

Both you (the employee) and your spouse should read this summary carefully and keep it with your records.

QUALIFYING EVENTS

A COBRA “qualifying event” is one of the specified triggering events which would result in the loss of coverage of a “qualified beneficiary”. A “qualified beneficiary” is any employee, former employee, spouse or dependent child who lost coverage due to the qualifying event and was covered under the plan on the day before the qualifying event. The definition includes a child born to or placed for adoption with a covered employee during the period of COBRA coverage.

PETE KING CONSTRUCTION COMPANY EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

If you are an employee of the Employer covered by the Plan, you have a right to elect continuation coverage if you lose coverage under the Plan because of any one of the following two “qualifying events”:

1. Termination of your employment (including voluntary resignation, involuntary termination, retirement, or layoff) except for termination due to your gross misconduct; or
2. Reduction in the hours of your employment (includes leave of absence).

If you are the spouse of an employee covered by the Plan, you have the right to elect continuation coverage if you lose coverage under the Plan because of any one of the following four “qualifying events”:

1. The death of your spouse;
2. A termination of your spouse’s employment (including voluntary resignation, involuntary termination retirement, or layoff except for termination due to gross misconduct) or reduction in your spouse’s hours of employment (includes leave of absence) with the Employer;
3. Divorce from your spouse; or
4. Your spouse becomes entitled to Medicare benefits.

In the case of a dependent child of an employee covered by the Plan, he or she has the right to elect continuation coverage if group health coverage under the Plan is lost because of any one of the following five “qualifying events”:

1. The death of the employee parent;
2. The termination of the employee parent’s employment (including voluntary resignation, involuntary termination, retirement, or layoff except for termination due to employee gross misconduct) or reduction in the employee parent’s hours of employment (including leave of absence) with the Employer;
3. Parents’ divorce;
4. The employee parent becomes entitled to Medicare benefits; or
5. The dependent ceases to be a “dependent child” under the Plan.

PETE KING CONSTRUCTION COMPANY EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

NOTICES AND ELECTION

The Plan provides that your covered dependent's coverage terminates (i.e., is lost) on the date of the qualifying event for a divorce (coverage is lost for the spouse only), or for a child losing eligible dependent status under the Plan.

Under the COBRA statute, the employee or a family member has the responsibility to notify the Plan Administrator of a divorce or a child losing dependent status under the Plan. The employee or family member must give this notice in writing no later than 60 days after the date the covered dependent would lose coverage under the Plan because of a divorce or a child losing dependent status.

If you or a family member fail to notify the Plan Administrator in writing during the 60-day notice period, any family member who loses coverage will NOT be offered the option to elect continuation coverage.

Further, if you or a family member fail to notify the Plan Administrator within the 60-day period, and consequently, your covered dependent's coverage continues (contrary to the Plan terms) beyond the date of the divorce or a child losing dependent status and the Plan Administrator later finds out about the event, then your covered dependent's coverage will be terminated as provided in the Plan (as of the date of the qualifying event of a divorce or a child losing dependent status) and you must reimburse the Plan for any claims paid after the coverage termination date. The same termination and reimbursement requirement will apply if you or a family member give written notice of the event within the 60-day notice period, but then do not timely elect and pay for COBRA coverage. If the Plan Administrator is timely notified that a divorce or child losing dependent status has occurred, the covered dependent(s) are notified of the right to elect continuation coverage.

If you or your covered dependents do not elect continuation coverage within this 60-day election period, you will lose your right to elect continuation coverage.

To be considered timely, an election must be postmarked by the U.S. Postal Service and received by the Employer, sent by an express delivery service with proof of date sent and received by the Employer; or delivered in person to the Employer during normal business hours at the office within 60 days of the date benefits terminate or the date of the Election notice (whichever is later).

A covered employee or the spouse of the covered employee may elect continuation coverage for all covered family members. The covered employee, spouse and dependent children, however, each have an independent right to elect continuation coverage. Thus, a spouse or dependent children may elect continuation coverage even if the covered employee does not elect COBRA.

PETE KING CONSTRUCTION COMPANY EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

The Plan coverage for you and your covered dependents is canceled after a qualifying event and remains canceled until the COBRA coverage is properly elected with timely payments. The coverage becomes retroactive following a proper election and timely premium payments.

If you do not elect continuation coverage (COBRA), your Plan coverage will end the last day of your employment (not actively working) or the day your hours were reduced. For all other qualifying events, the group health insurance coverage will end on the date of the qualifying event if COBRA is not elected.

Notice of a disability determination under the Social Security Act must be provided by the disabled individual to the Plan Administrator within the 18-month COBRA coverage period and within 60 days after the date of the determination. (More disability information is shown under the heading “Maximum Coverage Periods”.)

TYPE OF COVERAGE AND PREMIUM PAYMENTS

If you elect COBRA coverage, the continuation coverage is identical to the coverage provided under the Plan to similarly situated employees or covered dependents. Continuation coverage consists of the coverage under the group health plan that you and other “qualified beneficiaries” had immediately before your “qualifying event”. A “qualified beneficiary” is any employee, former employee, spouse or dependent child who lost coverage due to the qualifying event and was covered under the plan on the day before the qualifying event date. The definition includes a child born to or placed for adoption with a covered employee during the period of COBRA coverage.

The life insurance & AD&D portion is not subject to COBRA and is not included in the continuation coverage but may be converted to an individual policy by completing a conversion application form with the life insurance company. The conversion form may be requested from the life insurance company or the Plan Administrator.

If the coverage for similarly situated employees or covered dependents is modified, COBRA coverage will be modified the same way. Each qualified beneficiary will have the same options under COBRA coverage as active employees or covered dependents under the Plan.

When an employee or covered dependent(s) under the Plan has a qualifying event, COBRA coverage must be timely elected and paid for to be retroactively reinstated to the first day of the COBRA period.

The continuation coverage must be continuous from the date you would have otherwise lost coverage. The cost of the COBRA coverage will be the premium cost plus 2% administration fee and is subject to change upon the group health insurance contract renewal rates. Each individual has the right to elect COBRA. If one covered individual elects COBRA, the monthly cost will be the individual premium cost plus 2% fee. If two or more qualified beneficiaries elect COBRA continuation coverage with respect to the same qualifying event, the monthly cost will be the total of the individual and dependent premiums plus 2% fee. If you had family coverage but elect to cover only one covered individual under COBRA, the monthly cost will be the individual premium plus 2% fee. Notification of the premium costs will be received with the forms you must complete to elect COBRA after a qualifying event. Please contact the Plan Administrator if you have any questions about your options or costs.

You or your covered dependents must pay the premium payments for the “initial premium months” by the 45th day after electing continuation coverage. The initial premium months are the months that end on or before the 45th day after the date of the COBRA election. The initial payment must include payment for the premiums for all prior months of continuation coverage, not including the month in which you are making the initial payment. You must pay the entire premium for the COBRA coverage to the penny. Please be sure all checks are signed, properly dated and written for the correct total amount. If you pay less than the full amount or an incorrect total amount of the premium, your check is not signed or you pay by check without sufficient funds in the bank (your check “bounces”), you have not paid your full premiums and your COBRA coverage will be canceled unless you make full payment within the payment period. If the full initial premium payment is not made within the 45-day period, COBRA coverage for the affected qualified beneficiaries will be canceled retroactively to the first day of the unpaid COBRA coverage period.

After the “initial premium payment”, all other premiums are due on the 1st of each month for that month’s COBRA coverage. The grace period for late payment expires on the 30th day after the 1st of the month. Monthly statements are sent approximately 10 days before the premium due date. Billing statements are not required and it is your responsibility for paying the full premium on time if you do not get a bill. If you don’t make the full premium payment within the 30-day grace period, your COBRA coverage will be canceled retroactively to the 1st of the month of unpaid coverage. If you lose COBRA coverage, you cannot reinstate it.

To be considered timely, payments must be postmarked by the U.S. Postal Service on or before the applicable grace period expiration date and received by the Employer; sent by an express delivery service with proof of date sent on or before the applicable grace period expiration date and received by the Employer; or delivered in person to the Employer during normal business hours at the office on or before the grace period expiration date. The grace period expires 30 days after the due date (first of the month).

If you wait until the end of the grace period to pay, you risk not having sufficient time to correct errors which may or may not be within your control (i.e., unsigned checks, incorrect payment amounts, premiums sent to the wrong address, or late/missed pickups by the U.S. Postal Service).

A disabled qualified beneficiary may continue COBRA for up to 29 months (see the required conditions). The Employer has the right to charge a disabled qualified beneficiary COBRA premium coverage for months 19 through 29 at 150% of the applicable premium.

PETE KING CONSTRUCTION COMPANY EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

No claims under continuation coverage are paid unless the premium for the month of the coverage is paid. If, for whatever reason, you received any medical benefits under the Plan during a month for which the premium was not timely paid, you will be required to reimburse the health plan for the benefits you received or pay the providers for their services at their regular rates.

MAXIMUM COVERAGE PERIODS

1. 36 MONTHS: If the spouse or dependent children lose group health coverage because of the employee's death, divorce, or the employee's becoming entitled to Medicare, or because the dependent child(ren) lose status as a dependent under the Plan, the maximum continuation coverage period (for covered spouse and covered dependent child(ren)) is three (3) years from the date of the qualifying event.

2. 18 MONTHS: If the employee, spouse or dependent children lose group health coverage because of the employee's termination of employment (other than for gross misconduct) or reduction in hours, the maximum continuation coverage period (for covered employee, covered spouse and covered dependent children) is 18 months from the last day of the month in which the qualifying event occurred. There are three exceptions:
 - a) If an employee or covered dependent is disabled at any time during the first 60 days of continuation coverage, the continuation coverage period for all qualified beneficiaries under the qualifying event is 29 months from the last day of the month of the original qualifying event. The Social Security Administration must formally determine under Title II (Old Age, Survivors and Disability Insurance) or Title XVI (Supplemental Security Income) of the Social Security Act that the disability exists and when it began. For the 29-month continuation coverage period to apply, notice of the determination of disability under the Social Security Act must be provided by the disabled individual to the Plan Administrator within the 18-month coverage period and within 60 days after the date of the determination.

 - b) If a second qualifying event occurs (for example, the employee dies or becomes divorced) within the 18-month or 29-month coverage period, the maximum continuation coverage becomes three (3) years from the last day of the month of the original qualifying event. You are required to notify the Plan Administrator in writing of a second qualifying event within 60 days of the qualifying event.

 - c) If the qualifying event occurs within 18 months after the employee becomes entitled to Medicare, the maximum coverage period (for the covered spouse and covered dependent children) ends three (3) years from the last day of the month in which the employee became entitled to Medicare.

PETE KING CONSTRUCTION COMPANY EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

NEWBORN CHILDREN OF, OR CHILDREN PLACED FOR ADOPTION WITH, THE COVERED EMPLOYEE AFTER THE QUALIFYING EVENT

If, during the period of continuation coverage, a child is born to the covered employee or is placed for adoption with the covered employee, the child is considered a qualified beneficiary. The covered employee or other guardian has the right to elect continuation coverage for the child, provided the child satisfies the otherwise applicable Plan eligibility requirements. The covered employee or a family member must notify the Plan Administrator within 30 days of the birth or placement to enroll the child on COBRA. (The 30-day period is the Plan's normal enrollment window for newborn or adopted children.)

If the covered employee or family member fails to notify the Plan Administrator timely, the covered employee will NOT be offered the option to elect COBRA coverage for the newborn or adopted child.

TERMINATION OF COVERAGE BEFORE THE END OF MAXIMUM COVERAGE PERIOD

COBRA coverage of the employee, spouse or dependent children will automatically terminate (even before the end of the maximum continuation coverage period) when any one of the following five events occurs:

1. The Employer no longer provides group health coverage to any employees;
2. The premium for your COBRA coverage is not paid timely;
3. If the employee, spouse or dependent children become covered under another group health plan (as an employee or otherwise) that has no exclusion or limitation with respect to any preexisting condition that you have. If the other plan has applicable exclusions or limitations, your COBRA coverage will terminate after the exclusion or limitation no longer applies (e.g., after a 12-month preexisting condition waiting period expires). The rule applies only to the qualified beneficiary who becomes covered by another group health plan. Note that under a Federal law (the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996) that requires portability of health care coverage effective for plan years beginning after June 30, 1997, an exclusion or limitation of the other group health plan might not apply at all to the qualified beneficiary, depending on the length of his or her creditable health plan coverage prior to enrolling in the other group health plan;
4. You (employee, spouse or dependent children) become entitled to Medicare benefits (applies only to the person who becomes entitled to Medicare);

PETE KING CONSTRUCTION COMPANY EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

5. If the employee, spouse or dependent children became entitled to a 29-month maximum coverage period due to disability of a qualified beneficiary, but then there is a final determination under Title II or XVI of the Social Security Act that the qualified beneficiary is no longer disabled (however, continuation coverage ends with the first month beginning more than 30 days after the determination).

You must be actively working on your effective date of the group health plan to have Plan coverage and COBRA rights. If your effective date is not a normal working day, you must be actively working the first working day following the effective date.

If you are injured on the job and are unable to return to work, your Plan coverage will end the last day of the month in which you were injured and were no longer actively working. The COBRA coverage period will be the first day of the next month. You and your covered dependents coverage under the Plan will be canceled as of the last day of the month of your qualifying event and remains canceled until the COBRA coverage is elected and paid for. The coverage becomes retroactive if you elect COBRA and pay premiums timely.

You may be eligible for a leave of absence under the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 (FMLA). Refer to the Leave of Absence Policy (in Employee Handbook and Summary Plan Description) for the eligibility requirements. You are required to submit a written request to the Plan Administrator for a leave of absence and provide necessary forms and documentation. If the employee qualifies, a maximum leave of 12 weeks per calendar year may be granted when medically necessary due to the employee's or family member's serious medical condition. On approved leave, your benefits will continue per the Leave of Absence Policy and you are responsible for the normal employee contributions for the group health plan coverage. If you do not return from an approved leave, the end of your leave will be considered a "qualifying event" for COBRA with a maximum continuation coverage period of 18 months unless another or second qualifying event would extend the maximum continuation coverage period.

If you return to work for the Employer within the 18-month period after a qualifying event, elected COBRA timely and if all COBRA premiums were paid timely, you and any covered dependents under COBRA may be changed to "employee status". Employee status coverage will begin the first of the month after your rehire date following COBRA. All COBRA premiums must be paid up to the employee status period providing no lapse in coverage. You will not be subject to the eligibility waiting period of the Plan. "Employee status" refers to the contributions and benefits an eligible employee receives on the Plan. New enrollment forms are required for the status change. Please contact the Plan Administrator for the forms to change to employee status.

If the employee does not elect COBRA coverage after a qualifying event and returns to work at a later date, you will be required to meet the eligibility requirements of the Plan based on the new rehire date. The new effective date of coverage will be the first day of the month following 60 days of consecutive employment after the rehire calendar month.

INDUSTRIAL INJURY INFORMATION

Under Arizona Revised Statute, 23-908, Subsection D, all employees are required to immediately report any industrial accident. Failure to report an industrial accident or injury in a timely manner may result in denial of your claim, and even if you have a valid claim, can result in the forfeiture of your benefits. Under Arizona Revised Statute, 23-908, Subsection E, Pete King Construction Company has the right to designate which medical facilities are to be utilized for the treatment of work-related injuries.

Injury Management & Claims Reporting Procedures

Pete King Construction Company implemented a first aid treatment plan for employees injured at work. Our goal is always to treat work place injuries in the most efficient way possible for both the employee and company. Our first aid treatment services will be provided by On-Site Health & Safety. On-Site is the first call employees and foremen should make when there is a work place injury that is not life threatening*. If it is determined medical treatment is needed, employees and foremen need to call Medcor Workplace Health Management's triage line so Medcor can direct and guide a course of action for treatment of work place injuries requiring medical attention.

FIRST POINT OF CONTACT

For all work place injuries that are NOT life threatening* the first point of contact effective May 23, 2013 will be On-Site Health & Safety. On-Site will evaluate the injury and will dispatch a technician to perform first aid treatment when it is appropriate. On-Site will also take care of the drug test required for all work place injuries at the same time they are performing first aid at the job site. This will eliminate unnecessary visits to a clinic. The injured employee and foreman will still need to complete an injury report and submit it to the office. If On-Site performs first aid treatment it should be noted in your injury report.

On-Site Health & Safety

MEDICAL TREATMENT

If an On-Site technician determines medical treatment is necessary when called for first aid, or when a technician sees an injured employee to administer first aid or medical treatment is indicated at a later date, then the injured employee and foreman will need to contact Medcor's Injury Triage Line. At that time Medcor will direct and guide a course of action for treatment of the injured employee requiring medical attention. If a drug test has not already been done by On-Site, it will need to be done when medical treatment is sought.

LIFE THREATENING INJURIES

Always call 911 first for any potentially life-threatening situations including:

Choking, difficulty breathing	Seizure or convulsions
Unconscious or disoriented	Possibility of traumatic neck or back injury
Severe bleeding	Chest pain or discomfort
Off balance, unable to walk	Profuse sweating
Hot, dry skin	Severe abdominal pain
Any other problem you feel may be an emergency	Large burns

When there is a potentially life-threatening situation and 911 is called, the injured employee or foreman will still need to call Medcor's Injury Triage Line after the incident to report the injury.

In the case of a life-threatening injury CALL 911; otherwise, the following steps are to be followed when an employee is injured on the job:

1. Injured employee is to immediately contact their foreman if the foreman is on site.
2. Foreman with the injured employee is to immediately call On-Site Health & Safety at 1-866-998-2750. If the injured employee's foreman is not available, the injured employee is to immediately call On-Site direct. An interpreter can be made available if needed.
3. On-Site will triage the injury and if appropriate will dispatch a technician to the job site to administer first aid to the injured employee.
4. If On-Site determines medical attention is needed, the foreman with the injured employee is to immediately call Medcor's Injury Triage Line at 1-800-775-5866. If the injured employee's foreman is not available, the injured employee is to immediately call Medcor's Injury Triage Line direct. Interpreters will be available on the Injury Triage Line to assist if needed.
 - a. A medical professional on the Medcor Injury Triage Line will gather relevant information from the foreman when available and will then speak to the employee after which they will recommend a course of action that will include if needed a referral to a designated medical facility for treatment. The course of action will be shared with foreman.
5. If Medcor directs an employee to a designated medical facility, Medcor will immediately begin the claim management process by providing:
 - a. Injury Alert Form to designated medical facility with relevant information
 - b. First Report information to insurance carrier (Form 101)
 - c. Triage Report to Company
 - d. Foreman Report to Company
 - e. Treatment Guidelines
 - f. First Report to Company (Form 101)
 - i. Currently insurance carrier is filing Form 101 with Industrial Commission.
 - ii. Payroll clerk to verify Form 101 has been filed with Industrial Commission.

PETE KING CONSTRUCTION COMPANY EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

6. Post Injury Resource:
 - a. Employees who received first aid treatment from On-Site can call them back at their toll-free number 1-866-998-2750 with any questions or if symptoms change or worsen, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week for follow up advice from technician.
 - b. Employees who contacted Medcor can call them back at their toll-free number 1-800-775-5866 with any questions or if symptoms change or worsen 24 hours a day, 7 days a week so they will always have access to a health-care professional.
7. Employees still need to complete our Employee's Report of Injury and submit it to the office.
8. Foremen still need to complete our Foreman's Report of Injury and Investigation.
9. Employees are still required to have a urine test for drugs or alcohol within 24 hours of any injury requiring first aid or medical attention.

Your full cooperation with On-Site and Medcor is required. Employees who do not follow the steps outlined above following an injury will be subject to the Company's progressive disciplinary action up to and including termination for not following company policy in the same manner as when receiving a Safety Violation for not following company safety policies.

Foremen are responsible for ensuring all crew members are aware of both On-Site and Medcor and the policy we have put in place for injury management and claims reporting. If a foreman's crew members do not follow this policy, the foreman will be subject to the same progressive disciplinary action as the injured employee. Contacting On-Site so they can determine whether first aid is an appropriate treatment and contacting Medcor's Injury Triage Line when medical treatment is indicated is not at the discretion of the employee or foreman. It is mandatory.

PETE KING CONSTRUCTION COMPANY EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

LEAVE OF ABSENCE POLICY

Pete King Construction Company employees employed for one year or more and who have worked at least 1,250 hours in the preceding year may qualify for a maximum of twelve weeks of leave per calendar year (January 1 through December 31) under the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) for one, or more, of the following reasons:

1. The birth of the employee's child and in order to care for the child during the first year of birth;
2. The adoption of a child by the employee, or the placement of a child with the employee for foster care; and in order to care for the child during the first year of placement;
3. To care for a spouse, child or parent who has a serious health condition; or due to the employee's own serious health condition.
4. Because of "any qualifying exigency" arising out of the fact that the spouse, son, daughter, or parent of the employee is on active duty, or has been notified of an impending call to active duty status, in support of a contingency operation.
5. An eligible employee who is the spouse, son, daughter, parent, or next of kin of a covered service member who is recovering from a serious illness or injury sustained in the line of duty on active duty is entitled to up to 26 weeks of leave in a single 12-month period to care for the service member. This military caregiver leave is available during "a single 12-month period" during which an eligible employee is entitled to a combined total of 26 weeks of all types of FMLA leave.

SERIOUS HEALTH CONDITIONS

Under FMLA a serious health condition must result in the inability of the employee to perform one or more of the "essential functions" of the job. A serious health condition is defined as follows:

1. Absences of more than three days coupled with one or more treatments by a health care provider such as office visits, or a single visit to a provider coupled with a regimen of prescribed treatment such as prescription medicine. Routine physical examinations are not considered "treatments", nor are the use of over-the-counter medication, bed rest, or other similar activity which can be initiated without a visit to a health care provider considered a "regimen of continuing treatment" for purposes of FMLA leave. Unless there are complications, colds, flu, upset stomachs, non-migraine headaches, routine dental problems, etc. do not qualify as serious health conditions.
2. Chronic or long term health conditions are also covered even if a resulting absence for treatment or flare-ups is of short duration. Examples of such conditions include asthma, diabetes, epilepsy, cancer, severe arthritis and kidney disease. Conditions that are not treatable such as Alzheimer's disease, severe stroke, etc. also meet the definition of a serious health condition.

PETE KING CONSTRUCTION COMPANY
EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

3. Any period of incapacity due to pregnancy and prenatal care are considered serious health conditions. Severe “morning sickness” is included.
4. Substance abuse treatment may qualify for FMLA leave, but an absence due to the use of intoxicating or controlled substances does not.
5. Mental illness resulting from stress may also be a serious health condition if all other regulatory requirements are met.

LEAVE

Leave may be taken for a time period of twelve consecutive weeks or less, or may be taken intermittently or on a reduced work schedule when medically necessary due to the employee’s or family member’s serious medical condition. If intermittent or reduced schedule leave is permitted, the employee may be required to temporarily transfer to an alternative position.

An employee’s entitlement to leave for a birth or placement for adoption or foster care expires at the end of the twelve-month period beginning on the date of birth or placement. For employees who have been employed for less than one year or who worked less than 1,250 hours in the year preceding the beginning date of requested leave, the granting of a leave of absence and the conditions under which a leave of absence may be granted, including the amount of leave, will be determined on a case by case basis at the sole discretion of Pete King Construction Company.

NOTIFICATION

An employee requiring leave must submit a written request to Reyna Rodriguez in our Phoenix office:

Reyna Rodriguez
Human Resources Director
Pete King Construction Company
Post Office Box 82970
Phoenix, Arizona 85071-2970
Phone: 602-944-4441

The written request must state the reason for the leave and the expected beginning and ending date of the leave. When the need for leave is foreseeable, such as an expected birth or adoption or for planned medical treatment, the employee must request leave at least thirty (30) days before the leave period is expected to begin. However, when such advance notice is not possible, a leave request shall be submitted as soon as practical before the beginning of the leave. (In the event of a medical emergency, leave may be requested orally as soon as reasonably possible by either the employee, or a responsible family member if the employee is unable to make the request, provided that the employee submits a written leave of absence request as soon as he or she is able.) A failure to provide adequate notice prior to a requested leave date may result in postponement of the date on which leave may begin.

PETE KING CONSTRUCTION COMPANY EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

When leave is anticipated for the purposes of medical treatment, the employee should consult with Supervision and make a reasonable effort to schedule the leave, including intermittent or reduced schedule leave, so as not to unduly disrupt normal business operations. When leave is requested due to a serious medical condition of the employee or a family member, Pete King Construction Company reserves the right, for justifiable cause, to require the employee to attempt to reschedule medical treatment relating to the condition, subject to the ability of the health care provider to reschedule the treatment and the approval of the health care provider as to any modifications of the treatment scheduled.

CERTIFICATION

For leave due to a serious medical condition of the employee or a family member, Pete King Construction Company requires the submission of a medical certification signed by the health care provider (as defined by FMLA) treating the employee or affected family member. Pete King Construction Company also reserves the right to require medical recertification from time to time during the leave period, and further reserves the right to obtain a second medical opinion with respect to any medical certification provided on behalf of an employee or family member. The necessary certification forms will be provided upon receipt of the employee's leave of absence request. A failure to complete and submit a medical certification form in a timely manner may result in denial or postponement of the leave or continuation of the leave.

BENEFITS

Pete King Construction Company will make its normal contributions for health insurance premiums for an employee on approved leave at the same rate and in the same manner paid while the employee is present at work. Any portion of insurance premiums that are the employee's responsibility must be paid by the employee during leave period on or before the date such payments would normally be deducted from the employee's pay (i.e., each weekly payday during the leave period). A failure to make required insurance premium payments while on leave may result in the loss of insurance coverage. Pete King Construction Company reserves the right to recover all insurance premium payments made on behalf of an employee during leave in the event the employee fails to return to work following the expiration of his or her leave (except in those cases where the failure to return is due to a continuation, recurrence or onset of a serious health condition or other circumstances beyond the employee's control).

PAY STATUS

Leaves of absence will be without pay.

PETE KING CONSTRUCTION COMPANY EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

RETURN FROM LEAVE

An employee returning to work upon the expiration date of his or her leave will be reinstated to the previous position held or to an equivalent position with the same pay and benefits. Upon return from a leave due to the employee's serious medical condition, the employee must provide a medical certification that the employee is physically able to resume work prior to being reinstated. If at any time during a leave, an employee determines that he or she will not return to work upon the expiration of the designated leave period, Reyna Rodriguez, Human Resources Director in our Phoenix office, should be advised of that fact in writing as soon as possible.

Reinstatement following a leave may be denied for the following reasons:

1. If the employee's position is eliminated during the leave period;
2. If leave is fraudulently obtained;
3. If the employee fails to return to work after using his or her twelve weeks of leave entitlement during the calendar year; or
4. For any other reason permitted by law.

This policy is intended to summarize your rights and obligations under the law. Congress often changes the law; therefore, this policy is subject to change without notice as interpretations or changes of the law occur.

PAYROLL CHECK REPLACEMENT POLICY

The following procedures will be followed when an employee loses a payroll check and requests the Company issue a replacement check:

1. The employee requesting a replacement check must complete and sign a “Stop Payment Request by Employee” form. If the bank advises us the original check has already been cashed, the employee must sign a “Fraud Statement” indicating they did not cash the check.
2. The replacement check will not be issued by the Company for a period of up to three weeks.
3. The employee must pay the Company an administrative fee of $20.00 prior to the replacement check being issued.
4. If after receiving a replacement check, the employee cashes both the replacement check and the original check and is still employed by the Company, the net amount of the replacement check plus an additional $20.00 will be deducted from the employee’s next payroll check. The employee will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination. If the full amount of the replacement check plus an additional $20.00 is not recovered, the Company will prosecute the employee to the fullest extent of the law to recover funds still due.
5. If after receiving a replacement check, the employee cashes both the replacement check and the original check and is no longer employed by the Company, the Company will prosecute to the fullest extent of the law to recover the amount of the check plus an additional $20.00 fee.

Employees should take steps to safeguard their payroll checks. Payroll checks should not be left lying around in vehicles or anywhere else.

Prescription drugs that do not impair an employee's performance and over-the-counter drugs are not covered by this paragraph.

 - d. Substance abuse of any kind while driving a company vehicle will be grounds for immediate termination.
3. Urine, saliva and any other tests deemed appropriate to determine whether there are drugs, including medical marijuana, or alcohol in your system may be required at the discretion of your

An employee who feels the information shown on the test results is not accurate should notify us immediately and may request a retest of the original specimen.
- a. If the retest is positive or an uncontested original test is positive the employee will receive an Adverse Action Notice and will be immediately terminated and will not be allowed to return to work until a negative test result is obtained and only then at the discretion of management.

result. An exception will be made for individuals who test positive for off-duty marijuana use but have a valid prescription for medical marijuana consistent with Arizona statutes; however, it should be noted employees will not be allowed to work “impaired” or “under the influence” of marijuana. 8. Any employee who has a problem with drugs or alcohol is encouraged to come forward. An employee voluntarily admitting they have an alcohol or substance abuse problem will not be terminated or disciplined but will be required to abide by frequent random alcohol and drug testing and must receive negative test results in order to continue working.
